NEW SCHOOL BEGAN WORK YESTERDAY

Large Crowd Visited Institution To Participate in Launching of the Handsome Place

The Hammond school, the prettiest rural school in South Carolina, began its career yesterday morning with about 20 pupils in attendance. This morning it is expected that 35 more will be enrolled and Miss Marlon Higgins, of Newberry, who is the teacher, said that she was well pleased with the result of the first day and the prospects for the new institute.

The exercises held yesterday afternoon at four o'clock in connection with the first day of the school brought out a number of people who are interested in the school, its patrons, trustees and other educational officials of the county. Much disappointment was expressed over the fact that W. K. Tate, supervisor of rural schools of South Carolina, was unable to be present. Mr. Tate had telephoned Sunday that it would be impossible for him to come.

J. B. Felton, superintendent of education of Anderson county, presided over the meeting and the exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. W. H. Frazier, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Anderson. Mr. Felton then took the rostrum and made a splendid address, saying that it is the duty of every man to make better men and women of his children by giving them an education. He said that every father should strive to make of his boy a better man than his father was and that if he failed this he had not done his duty. He said that he hoped God would speed the day when every child in Anderson county and the state of South Carolina would be accorded a liberal public school education. He said that the school and churches of a community reflect the progress and prosperity of that community and said that if this is true it demonstrates that the Hammond school is the finest country school in the state. He said that many parents seemed to think more of their mules and horses than they did of their children, that they would lavish every attention upon the mules and horses but would secure no advantage for their children. The speaker called attention to the approach of field day, which is to be held here on March 27th, and said that he hoped to see 10,000 school children here for the event. He desired the new school to at once begin preparations to taking part in the day's program.

Prof. Felton was followed by Dr. Frazier, who made a splendid address. Although brief it was an effort worthy of note and made a splendid impression upon the large audience. He said that the duties of the preacher and teacher are almost identical and therefore he felt they should be united. He congratulated his hearers upon living in a community where the people were so prosperous and progressive and showed the relationship existing between the church and the school and the great opportunities for the teacher to grasp. In conclusion he said that the new school was all it should be because of the fact that "Missy Bull" it.

The next speaker, Miss Maggie Garlington, supervisor of rural schools of this county, talked interestingly of what the people of the new school district have accomplished and said that he hearers would appreciate their fine building twice as much as they do if they could go with her and see some of the other schools in the county. She then took of the Rural Improvement Association and took up the organization of such an association at Hammond school.

Col. Lewis Campbell was called upon and made a few extemporaneous remarks. Col. Campbell said that in his school days a building such as the Hammond school now have never heard of and called to mind a number of mischievous shifts that they were forced to employ during his boyhood. He said that he was proud of the fact that he had assisted in the building of the new Hammond school.

The last speaker of the afternoon was W. W. Sisson, business manager of The Intelligencer. Mr. Sisson complimented the Hammond people for the splendid school they have established and assured them that they would never regret having invested their money in the institution. He said that he hoped to live to see the day when every white child in Anderson county would be given an opportunity to go to school and be forced, if necessary, to attend. The Rural School Improvement Association then adjourned with Miss Garlington presiding and the following officers were elected: Mrs. Arthur Rhoady, president; Mrs. Julia Lewis, vice president; and Mrs. P. W. Major, secretary and treasurer. It was decided that the association would hold meetings on the fourth Friday of every month at 3:30 o'clock in the school house. A fund was at once started for the school library, which resulted in contributions yesterday afternoon of $24. This together with the state and county aid, will give the Hammond school a splendid library and one of which no institution can be proud. Miss Isabel Wyatt, field agent of the Epworth League, was present at the exercises and was introduced to the audience. The history of the founding of the new school was given fully in the Intelligencer a few days ago. The school is located in a new district, District No. 3, which has just been formed. It is an institution that many towns and cities would be proud of and it is far above the average rural school. It is no exaggeration to say that this is easily the handsomest country school in South Carolina. An evidence of the fact that the people of the Hammond school section are progressive, an election is to be held within the next few weeks in that district to vote on the question of adding a six mills tax for school purposes. Citizens of that section say that it will pass practically without opposition.

STATE TEACHERS IN SPARTANBURG

Ample Preparations Being Made for Their Entertainment and Pleasure

Spartanburg, Feb. 9.—(Special)—An attractive program is now being formulated for the annual meeting of the State Teachers' Association of South Carolina, which will be held in this city March 19 to 21. Mr. A. H. Gasque of Florence, president of the association, is now at work on the details and will shortly announce some interesting features of the sessions.

According to a decision reached at a conference held here recently the Gresham Hotel of this city will be headquarters for the convention. The day sessions and departmental meetings will be held at Wofford College; the evening sessions at Converse College. Of interest to all teachers is the announcement that on Friday evening provision to adjournment day, the visitors will be the guests of the faculty and students of Converse College, at a reception to be given at that college immediately upon the close of the evening session, which will be cut short in order to allow sufficient time for this social feature.

Auxiliary Associations. The teachers' association embraces a number of other organizations, allied in purpose and nature, which will also hold their meetings with the general body March 19 to 21. These organizations are association of town and city superintendents, A. R. Banks, Columbia, president; Association of County Superintendents, S. M. Clarkson, Columbia, president; Association of Elementary Schools, Belle Dunbar, Unionville, president; and the School Improvement Association, Miss Eva Hite, Aiken, president. Special programs containing matters of interest and importance to the profession are being arranged for each of these organizations, the members of which will also hold general sessions with the main body of the teachers.

A concerted effort is being made by all officers of the association this year to make more successful than ever before the campaign for new members which is put on prior to each of the annual conventions. The hope of officials this year is not only to enroll a larger number of the teachers of the state than ever before, but also to have the actual attendance figures break all previous records.

Trophy is Offered. Announcement is made today that a handsome trophy cup will be awarded at the convention this year to the county which shows the largest number of its teachers in actual attendance upon the convention, and enrolled as members of the association. There will doubtless be much rivalry for this prize. Last year, the association offered a silk banner for the county which showed the largest percentage of its teachers enrolled as members of the association. Dillon, Richland, Marlboro and Calhoun all enrolled 100 per cent. of their teachers, and four banners had to be awarded. This year, the lines will be drawn tighter and the prize will be awarded only for actual attendance.

The indications are promising that the convention this year will have a record attendance. "I am receiving some very encouraging letters as to attendance," is the statement from President Gasque. In a letter to local members of the association, "if as many attend as I am led to believe, we will reach the 1,300 mark this year. Some counties have notified me that all of their teachers will attend."

The schools, colleges, Chamber of Commerce and citizens of Spartanburg are already making preparations for the convention here, and it is assured that the teachers will receive a most cordial welcome on every hand on the occasion of their visit to the Piedmont section of the state.

Fight Against Locker Clubs

Atlanta, Feb. 9.—Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey has arranged an indictment against several Atlanta locker clubs, and is expected to present them to the grand jury this week in an effort to secure indictments against them, on the ground that no violation of the law has been shown. Failing the attack on the clubs through the grand jury, it is understood that private counsel will be secured and an effort made to close them by injunction. Atlanta, Feb. 9.—Seth Irby, who came from Louisville, Ga., to see the hanging of the three negroes convicted for the murder of his wife, has demanded that the date pay his railroad expenses because a receipt was granted and the execution postponed.

NO ROAD MACHINES FOR COUNTY NOW

Supervisor King Says Legislative Delegation Assumes Responsibility

Mr. Jos. F. Vickery having written to ask the Intelligencer something about the efforts last year to sell the county a tractor engine for road work. The tractor was shipped here for trial at no obligation upon the county, and is regarded as having done good work, but the financial affairs of the county were such that Supervisor King and the board did not feel justified in making the outlay necessary to get the engine.

Nor will on the bought this year. Supervisor King appeared before the legislative delegation a few days ago and asked for a number of things for his department and was told that the county could not afford much permanent work this year. He was told that the legislative delegation would assume the responsibility for the failure to buy improved machinery.

Supervisor King will go west some day this week for the purpose of buying 20 or 25 mules, being authorized to do so by the board of commissioners. They considered that it would be better to buy this way, and the mules now in use are so run down that it is declared to be necessary to replace them with fresh stock. Mr. King seems to be very much put out because the comptroller general, Mr. A. W. Jones, who was some time ago adding the books of the county, had ignored two requests from the supervisor's office for detailed information of the financial condition of the county. When Mr. King first came into office he announced that he was going to get the services of an expert accountant, but was dissuaded on the ground of the expense because the comptroller general was coming here right away. Mr. Jones sent over the books of the county but gave Mr. King no information upon request and has ignored two letters from the office of the supervisor, and furthermore has given very discouraging information to members of the general assembly from this county. Therefore, having taken hold of the office at a time when there was a great deal of muck, and not knowing exactly how to cut his cloth to meet the finances, Mr. King will have to pursue a very conservative policy this year.

FINE, NEW ROAD

To Be Cut From Anderson College to Midway Church. A progressive step has been taken by the county commissioners in the matter of opening a new road from Anderson College northwardly to a point beyond Midway church, where it comes into the National Highway. This is said to be the most direct line between Anderson and Piedmont and Greenville, and was decided upon by the commissioners upon petition of a number of good citizens of that section.

The commissioners yesterday received a check for $400 in part payment of the cost of the opening of the new road. It is said that this will be a "daisy" on a natural ridge and through a section where the soil is suited to road making. There has been some misunderstanding with reference to running the road through the church yard at Midway, but Supervisor King says that he can handle this situation to the satisfaction of everybody.

FANS WRITE OF BASEBALL

Greenwood People Have Addressed Letter to Anderson Fans Urging Trolley League

A letter has been received in Anderson by a local fan, sent out from Greenwood to each of the towns mentioned in connection with the Trolley baseball league, in which the Greenwood fans urge that Anderson make some effort to have a berth in the proposed association. The letter says that stock is being sold in Greenwood at $10 per share, and that the team to be put in the field will be composed of college and semi-professional players, with the exception of the batteries, these to be professionals.

So far as can now be told, there is no interest in baseball in Anderson, and the people generally do not seem to think that this city would support a club at this time of the coming season. However, it is hardly probable that Anderson men may get together and enter the new league if the association is perfected. The expense would be little, since the clubs are not to be composed of professional players entirely.

ANDERSON PEOPLE MUST GIVES HOMES

Two Hundred Delegates to The Convention Have Not Yet Been Picked. Two hundred delegates who will arrive in the city today and tomorrow to attend the State Sunday School convention, have not been picked and some accommodations must be found for them at once, according to a statement of W. M. Burnett last night. Mr. Burnett said that this important work could not be put off another minute and that the homes would have to be secured during the early hours today. Quite a number of the executive officers of the association, about 50 all told, have arrived in the city and have been placed at the additional room will have to be secured today for the other two hundred.

AGED WOMAN SUING MAN

Hardy Versus Crot Consumed All of Court's Time Yesterday and Continues Today

The case of Miss Laura C. Hardy versus J. D. Crot, begun in court of common pleas court for Anderson county yesterday morning at 11 o'clock continued throughout the day and when court adjourned last night only three witnesses had testified. Indications are that this interesting case will continue throughout a good part of today. Miss Hardy is asking that an agreement of sale, which she made with the plaintiff, be set aside, alleging that she was misled when she signed the agreement. By this she meant she was to sell to the plaintiff a tract of land for the sum of $10,000, half of which was to be in cash and the other half to be used for her support. The case has been exciting much interest and the court room was comfortably filled throughout the hearing.
